Distributive Education Career Council Topic

In Cooperation with the Appomattox County High School Career Council, the distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) presented the program for the second career assembly.

Students attending the assembly last Wednesday learned about distribution and marketing, what is distributive education, and how DECA activities relates to classroom work.

Highlighting the Career Council meeting was a presentation given by four DECA members. These DE students talked to the audiences about their respective on-the-job training. They discussed wage scale, job duties, hours, work conditions, and the opportunity for advancement in their career choice.

William Henry, a senior, discussed his job as a courtesy clerk at Kings Market. Short order restaurant careers were covered by Harry Carter, a junior employed at The Luv'n Oven. Senior Ronnie Davidson, also working at Kings spoke on the stock crew. Bud Moses, service president of the DECA Chapter, talked about his new job in the shipping department at Carol Lynn Fashions.

Jack Hutcheson, DE teacher-coordinator and DECA Chapter advisor, gave information about the distributive education curriculum. He encouraged students interested in distributive carrers to talk with him or the Guidance Department at ACHS.

The Career Council Assembly was well received by the audiences. Our high school students continue to obtain important career information through the combined efforts of the Guidance Department, Career Council, local business persons and vocational departments at the school.

Rev. R. Q. Lawing

The Heart of Appomattox

By Terrie Conrad

Not many of us have the time or inclination to pursue two careers of service at the same time. Can you imagine being a Baptist minister with not one, but three churches and a full-time vocational agricultural teacher in a high school?

Rev. Raymond Quinton Lawing could and did, and raised six children besides.

Mr. Lawing came to Appomattox in 1932, after obtaining his degree from Virginia State College, to accept a teaching position within the Appomattox School system. In 1946 he extended his career to include the position of minister to three charges, Galilee, Mt. Shiloh, and Promiseland Baptist Churches.

A dedicated man believing in his community, Rev. Lawing is a charter member of the Appomattox chamber of Commerce. Also a member of the Masons, he is presently secretary of his lodge. He has been president of the Appomattox Assembly, an organization that helps the poor and underprivileged to solve their own problems, since 1972. It's not surprising that this man once received the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity Award for distinguished service.

Mr. Lawing retired from teaching in 1975, after 43 years in the classroom. During that time he was president of the Appomattox Teachers' Assn., for 15 years and served as President of the Appomattox Education Association from 1971-72. He continues to minister to his churches on a full-time basis. Records show that he has united a total of 251 couples in marriage thus far.

Presently Vice-President of the Cancer Society, Mr. Lawing said that he hopes to stay active and do what he can for the betterment of the community.
